[Notice] Change of Dicing and Shipping location due to our factory transition

We would like to express our sincere appreciation for your continuous business relationship and support.

We would like to hereby inform that we will change the dicing and shipping location of the applicable products as mentioned below. The background of this notice is that we have decided to transfer the semiconductor production from our affiliated factory, Singapore Epson Industrial Pte. Ltd. (SEP) in June 2026.

SEP has been responsible for the dicing and shipping of our products. However, the environment surrounding the manufacturing industry in Singapore has become increasingly tough. Consequently, from a management perspective, we have decided to close the semiconductor back-end process at SEP.

We plan to transfer the dicing location of Au-bumping products to our subcontractor located in Japan, as it requires higher quality control. By adopting the subcontractor of dicing process in Japan from now on, we will change the shipping location from SEP to Japan as well.

We apologize for the sudden notice and any inconvenience this may cause. We greatly appreciate your understanding and cooperation.
